Mountaire Consolidates Corporations

G. Ted Cameron, President of Mountaire Poultry Company, Inc., announced the consolidation of all the corporations in Mountaire Poultry Company, the joint venture, into a single corporation known as Mountaire Poultry Company, Inc. Cameron stated that the change in corporate structure was logical following a period of five years as a joint venture in which each of the partner corporations maintained ownership of its particular segment. Operating as a joint venture, it became evident to the individual owners that a single company could best accomplish the goals of the company.

Cameron stated that the stock holders of the new company are the same as before. No change in the executive group is anticipated, and operations will continue as in the joint venture.

Mountaire Poultry Company, Inc., with one exception, will not use names of the various corporations. The general feed division of Mountaire Poultry Company, Inc. will continue using the name of Cameron Feed Mills for the manufacture of Prime Quality Libstock and Poultry Feeds at the North Little Rock mill.

Officers and Board of Directors are:

President, G. Ted Cameron; Executive Vice President, George E. Tenney, Jr.; Vice President, Poultry Production, Neely Cassidy; Vice President, Rendering and Transportation, William D. Brown; Vice President, Poultry Processing, W. G. McNeice; Secretary, J. W. Cobb; Treasurer, Elizabeth T. Cameron; Assistant Treasurer and Controller, Norman D. Nichols.

Mountaire Poultry Company, Inc., with its main office in North Little Rock, and operations in DeQueen, El Dorado, Hope and Nashville, Arkansas, in addition to feed manufacturing, is engaged in the production and processing of broilers, roasters, turkeys and fowl. The company also is in the production of commercial eggs for wholesale markets.

The new company has about 650 employees and contracts with more than 300 independent farm families in the production of poultry and eggs. It operates four feed mills, a large new hatchery at Nashville, and poultry processing and by-product rendering plants at DeQueen. Sales will approximate $20,000,000 annually.

He Chilled Americans at the Battle of Bulge, Now Likes to Weed Garden in Peace

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty years ago he chilled the Western world with fear, but now he is a gray little old man who likes to weed his garden in peace.

He is retired Gen. Hasso E. von Manteuffel, seven times wounded in battle, one of Germany's most decorated soldiers, and leader of its celebrated 5th Panzer army in the Battle of the Bulge.

Just two decades ago Wednesday his troops infiltrated the front lines of American troops resting in the Ardennes Forest. They came like ghosts across the snow in the foggy dawn, starting what some have called the greatest single battle in American history.

Von Manteuffel, now 67, discussed the conflict on a recent visit here to act as advisor on a film of the battle, which is being made with the cooperation of the U.S. Defense Department.

He is proudest of the skill by which his men, through camouflaged movements, achieved complete tactical surprise.

"I wanted to sneak by the outposts like cats," he recalled, "and this went off well. It was the biggest German success of the operation."

"But your men were not to blame for this. They were supposed to be in a rest area and they were thinly strung out."

Like other German commanders, Von Manteuffel thought Adolf Hitler's goal was grandiose and hopeless: it was no less than to wrap up the Allied armies in the west, thus leaving Hitler free to deal with the Russians in the east.

"The biggest mistake that Hitler made at this time," he commented acidly, "was to think that the German army could do what it had done in 1940."

"After all, we were in the sixth year of the war. He did not have enough material, and the soldiers of 1944 were not the same as those of 1939."

The rampaging Germans did streak 60 miles through U.S. lines at one point to get within four miles of the Meuse River. But they were held up for priceless days at one vital road center, St. Vith, and never did break through U.S. defenses at a second key town, Bastogne.

By Christmas Eve, von Manteuffel said, he realized the Nazi drive had been beaten.

"Once the fog lifted and the American Air Force could go into action and isolate the battlefield, I knew we could no longer sustain our offensive."

The outstanding bravery of the elements of the U. S. Army employed in the battles of St. Vith and Bastogne is highly recognized by me, a former enemy. They initiated the final defeat of the German forces on the Western Front.

"The morale factors are decisive. Decisive battles are won in the hearts of men. Bastogne and St. Vith are fundamental examples of this."

Captured by British troops at the close of the war, Von Manteuffel later worked as export manager for a German manufacturing firm until his retirement a few years ago.

The former general, who stands only 5 feet 4, weighs 123 pounds and has a gnomelike sense of humor, is a chain smoker.

"I built everything on human trust," he remarked. "Under me a general got no more rations than a soldier. I never believed in asking more of my soldiers than I could do. I ate and drank exactly as they did, and they trusted me."

"I live a healthy life now. I smoke too much, so I drink more milk. I work in my garden, and pick up my grandchildren's toys."

"I can live on the pension I get," he smiled puckishly. "But not as well as Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor live."

There was one point 10 years after the Battle of the Bulge, that Von Manteuffel wanted to make:

"Our trust in the Americans today is there on every level in Germany — on the farms, in the villages, in the big cities. We are confident, for example, that if the Russians attacked Berlin, Americans would help Germany."

"We can't believe in a third power group such that envisioned by Gen. De Gaulle."

France Left Out of Talks on Nuclear Force

By TOM OCHILTREE

PARIS (AP) — The United States, Britain and West Germany pushed ahead today with private negotiations for setting up an Allied nuclear command despite France's refusal to have any part in it.

This move, reported by Allied sources, overshadowed the opening of the annual year-end ministerial meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

France was left out of the planning by its own choice. U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has told President Charles de Gaulle that American proposals for a mixed-manned nuclear fleet, or any arrangement growing out of that multilateral force would be left open for ultimate French participation.

Rusk, Britain's Patrick Gordon Walker and West Germany's Gerhard Schroeder scheduled a private meeting to discuss the nuclear command idea.

The United States and Germany prefer the original fleet idea. Under this arrangement the alliance would create a fleet (Continued on Page Two)

Trade School Site Choice in March

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Board of Education Monday set mid-March as the target date for naming the cities where the next four state trade schools will be built.

Trusty Cook at Deer Camp Takes Off

PERRYVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A state prison trusty who was made a cook at a deer camp near here escaped last Friday with a shotgun, ammunition and a pickup truck, State Trooper Hank Burgin said today.

Burgin identified the escapee as Arnold Rhodes, 29, who had been sentenced to life for rape in Crawford County in 1956.

The truck was found abandoned in Fort Smith, Burgin said, and a statewide alert was out for Rhodes.

Burgin said the trusty was alone at the deer camp south of Perryville when he escaped Friday.

"He was here last (deer) season and they didn't think a thing in the world about him doing something like that," Burgin said.

The trooper said Rhodes also took 17 rounds of ammunition. The buckshot and the shotgun were not found in the truck, he said.

Burgin said the deer camp, called the Perryville Deer Camp, was operated by several men, including state Rep. Paul Van Dalsen and Perryville Mayor C. A. Ezell.

Rhodes was sentenced July 16, 1956, when he was 21 years old. The alleged crime took place Jan. 28, 1956. A woman was forced into a car at Fort Smith, driven into Crawford County, and attacked, state Pardon and Parole Board records show.

Rhodes later was arrested for speeding and was questioned about the crime after he boasted to police that he knew all about it.

The parole board considered his application for executive clemency last Aug. 7 and recommended that any petition for clemency be deferred for at least two years. In order to qualify for a parole, Rhodes would have to have received a commutation of sentence from the governor.

Burgin said state prison trustys are often used as workers in deer camps. "It gives the boys a chance to get away from down there for a little while," he said. He said the assignment was a sort of reward for good behavior.

State Prison Supt. Dan Stephens was away from the prison and could not be reached for comment.

Long said he intended to file charges against the three fired employees. He has also issued warrants and extradition papers for the four contractors.

He estimated that about $10,000 was involved.

Cousiders Are Blamed for Congo Trouble

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. Secretary-General U Thant today blamed much of the Congo trouble on outsiders he said are trying to perpetuate chaos and turn the country into "a cockpit for the cold war."

In a speech before the U.N. Security Council, Lord Caradon did not specifically name the Soviet Union or Red China, but he said the efforts to stir up trouble in the Congo originated outside Africa.

The British delegate, joined U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak in defending last month's rescue operation in the Stanleyville area which has been denounced by some African countries as aggression and motivated by bias against blacks.

Like Stevenson and Spaak, the British representative deplored the injection of "black racism" into the Congo debate by some of the African delegates.

He urged the African nations to put aside "politics and personal animosities" and accept the challenge to restore order and confidence in the Congo. The problem, he said, was primarily one for them to settle.

He spoke as African critics of U.S. policy in the Congo mobilized for a counter blast at Stevenson's speech delivered Monday in the council.

Ambassador Achar Marof of Guinea told newsmen a strategy meeting would be held today by the 18 African and 4 Asian nations who have charged before the council that the United States and Belgium committed aggression by sending paratroops to rescue whites held by the Congolese rebels.

Most African delegates who had denounced the United States and Belgium in the council debate refused to comment on Stevenson's blistering reply Monday. But they plainly did not relish his charge that they

Aggies Post 6th Straight Cage Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas A&M whipped Houston 74-67 for its fifth straight victory Monday night and the favorite-makers started eyeing the defending Southwest Conference champions despite the fact that Baylor is the only unbeaten team left in the league.

The hot-shooting Aggies, led by John Beasley with 24 points, pulled to a 48-33 halftime lead but ran into a cold streak in the last half and the Cougars cut the margin to seven points.

While the Aggies were showing their muscles, Texas lost another international game.

The Longhorns forced Oklahoma State into overtime but the Sooner Aggies pulled out of a 67-67 tie with 1:45 left in the extra period and got six points while Texas couldn't count any more.

Gary Hassmann of Oklahoma State scored 23 points as high man of the game.

The score was tied 10 times and the lead changed hands seven times.

Two conference members have interconference games to-night. Arkansas is hot to Tulsa, conqueror of Southern Methodist, and SMU plays the team it beat in the opening game, Oklahoma City University, at Oklahoma City.

of 25 surface ships armed with a total of 200 nuclear-tipped Polaris missiles.

Britain wants to expand the idea into an Atlantic nuclear force and to include Polaris submarines, some of Britain's own V-bombers and possibly land-based missiles.

Final control over use of the missiles would rest in the hands of the president of the United States. This is one feature De Gaulle strongly opposes.

Ministers of the 15-nation NATO alliance met to review the state of the alliance and look in detail at the posture of defense maintained by the Atlantic community.

In a sense, the new British proposals for an Allied nuclear system offered a chance for the United States and France to avoid a clash inside the NATO conference itself. The discussions can take place outside the conference hall among the countries interested.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Planning Association has urged a worldwide increase in the price of gold as a means of strengthening the monetary system of the free world and of expanding world trade.

Such a move would amount to a simultaneous devaluation of the dollar and all other currencies.

The majority of the 22 NPA members who issued the report proposed the increase as an interim step pending creation of a world central bank out of the existing International Monetary Fund.

It said world trade is increasing three times as fast as the world's stock of monetary gold, commenting:

"Since the value of gold in relation to world commodities now is less than half of what it was 25 years ago, it follows that today a given gold reserve is greatly reduced in its capacity to function and cannot stem the tide during cycles of disequilibrium for nearly as long periods as it could in the 1930s."

If the gold price were increased and all currencies devalued simultaneously, there would theoretically be no advantage to any one country.

The NPA is a privately supported research and planning organization with membership from industry, labor and the professions.

Marshall Walker, Pasadena, Calif., chairman of the American Gold Association, said Sunday his organization would urge Congress to boost the price of the metal from $35 to $105 an ounce. He said 9,000 U.S. mines are closed because of the 30-year fixed price.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has assigned Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey a "leading role" in the administration's anti-poverty campaign.

Johnson announced that Humphrey would work with Sargent Shriver, head of the program, to make sure "that this is a well-coordinated, concentrated attack on poverty throughout the country."

Bank Robbers Are Sought in State
SELIGMAN, Mo. (AP) — The loss in a holdup at the Bank of Seligman Monday was between $10,000 and $12,000, the Missouri Highway Patrol said.

Two young men forced three bank employees into a vault and escaped in a white car. A similar car was found later parked on Missouri 176 in Barry County. It had an Oklahoma license.

State police said the search possibilities on how to solve financial problems of the University of Arkansas and state colleges were explored Monday in a meeting with college leaders.

The schools of higher learning are faced with a sizable reduction in their 1965-67 budget requests.

Faubus said that the conference showed that university and college officials "their responsibility in the problem."

Sources said there was talk about seeking tax increases in some areas for financing of higher education.

The Legislative Council has indicated it will have to trim the proposed $27.1 million budgets for the institutions.

Bill Bendix, Actor, Is Dead at 58

By DORIS KLEIN

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor William Bendix is dead. And so, in a way, is Chester A. Riley, the pug-faced, soft-hearted factory worker he made famous in television, radio and the movies.

Bendix succumbed Monday at Los Angeles Good Samaritan Hospital to lobar pneumonia, complicated by a stomach ailment. He was 58.

At his bedside were his wife of 37 years, Therese, 58; daughters Stephanie, 20, and Lorraine, 30, and Mrs. Alan Ladd, with whose late actor husband Bendix once starred.

During his career, Bendix played characters ranging from brutal villains to everybody's pal.

To millions of fans of "The Life of Riley" television show, Bendix' death was a double loss. It removed Chester Riley, the harried father.

Bendix' wife once admitted to an interviewer: "Chester Riley and Bill Bendix are alike in a lot of ways."

"Bill's bluff manner doesn't let outsiders know what he is like at all. He has all the kindness and desire to help others that Riley is noted for. Sometimes, when I watch a Riley show, I say to myself, 'You'd think the writers lived with us.'"

Like Riley, Bendix was a bit of a failure in the beginning.

Born in New York City Jan. 14, 1906, he flopped as a bat boy for the New York Giants — his mother wouldn't let him go out for spring training. He didn't do much better as a semi-pro baseball player, singing waiter and grocer.

His debut on the boards at 16, as a member of the Henry Street Settlement House players, wasn't notable.

Bendix knew his wandering nose and beer keg physique would never qualify him as a matinee idol.

"I'm about as handsome as a mud fence," he once remarked.

But the strength and sincerity underneath the craggy exterior transformed him from character actor to star.

He was frightening in Eugene O'Neill's "The Hairy Ape," tough as the brutal first mate in "Two Years Before the Mast."

Bendix underwent surgery for stomach ulcers in 1955.

Bendix and his wife had been living in Palm Desert until he was brought to Good Samaritan Hospital Dec. 8.

Funeral services are tentatively scheduled for Thursday in suburban Van Nuys.

Death Sentence Review Refused
WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court refused to review the trial of Jerry James Johnson, who was sentenced to death in Pulaski County Circuit Court in the robbery-slaying of a grocery operator at Rixey, Ark.

Allene Arrington was found dead from stab wounds on July 31, 1962. Johnson was sentenced July 8, 1963, and his conviction was affirmed by the Arkansas Supreme Court on April 20, 1964.

His appeal to the U.S. Supreme court said Negroes were systematically excluded from the trial jury. Johnson is a Negro.

Steelworkers Start Talk of Contract
PITTSBURGH (AP) — The AFL-CIO United Steelworkers open contract talks with 11 major producers today amid scathing industry criticism.

These are plant-level negotiations. The national contract is scheduled to be reopened the first of the year.

In a joint statement Monday the 11 major companies, which represent more than 70 per cent of the nation's steel output, scored the union for announcing it would reopen the contract.

The companies said this "put the country to the disturbance of a potential crisis date."

The USW, which last month said it would reopen the contract to seek higher pay and total job security, is free to strike 120 days after the national talks start. This would make May 1, the earliest possible strike date.

However, since the crippling strike of 1959-60 — the most recent one — union and management have tried to meet in advance of formal negotiations to provide breathing room.

Industry's statement followed the first meeting of union chairmen from the 11 companies and their management counterparts. The statement said in part:

Suit Filed on Marianna Firm

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The U.S. Department of Labor filed suit Monday in U.S. District Court against Marianna Gin Inc., of Marianna, claiming the company had violated provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

The department's suit said the gin had employed 20 persons for less than the federal minimum wage of $1.25 an hour and for more than 40 hours a week without paying time-and-a-half overtime.

Package TV Is Coming to Baseball

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Package television, the little miracle of the electronics age that sometimes gushes gold, is about to engulf baseball.

In January 1964, Columbia Broadcasting System agreed to pay the National Football League $28,200,000 to telecast every regular season NFL game for the next two years.

Shortly thereafter, the National Broadcasting Co. gave the American Football League $36 million for the rights to telecast every AFL game for the next five years.

Now along comes Organized Baseball, with an envious glance at pro football, also seeking a piece of the rich pie.

A committee, headed by owner John Fetzer of the Detroit Tigers, has been negotiating with the American Broadcasting Co. for a television Game-of-the-Week spectacular during the 1965 season.

ABC is said to be ready to pay $5 million for the package which would consist of 25 Saturday afternoon games to be televised coast to coast.

The revenue would be divided equally among all clubs in the major leagues with the exception of the New York Yankees and Philadelphia Phillies whose television commitments extend through 1965.

There are still some complications that have to be settled, such as blacked-out areas and conflicts with local telecasts. Should all bugs be ironed out, the Saturday special will be on a one-year basis only.

The Fetzer committee has hopes of pushing through a $20-million television package for 1966, with the idea of interesting a national network in televising a Monday night Game-of-the-Week.

"We hope that the union will reconsider and not put the country to the disturbance of a potential crisis date. The union must know that reopening negotiations will not induce the companies to grant demands that are economically unacceptable."

The union's demands, as outlined last month, include higher pay, but no specified amount yet; unlimited unemployment pay for senior workers and more paid holidays, longer paid vacations and more liberal holiday and vacation eligibility requirements.

Steelworkers now earn an average of $3.03 hourly and get seven paid holidays.

Union President David J. McDonald has put no price tag on the package, but has said it is not inflationary.

The industry statement said: "The union's program goes either to taking for the steelworkers an unfair share of the proceeds of the business at the expense of others, or increasing restrictions upon the companies."

Reserve Plan Completion in 16 Months

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is aiming to complete the revolutionary reorganization of the Army's Reserve forces in about 16 months, it was learned today.

Key officers of the National Guard and the Army Reserve have been told in secret briefings that the objective date for final action is the end of March 1966.

It is expected that Guard and Reserve outfits will go to summer training next year in their present form, some of these of-ing a piece of the rich pie.

A committee, headed by owner John Fetzer of the Detroit Tigers, has been negotiating with the American Broadcasting Co. for a television Game-of-the-Week spectacular during the 1965 season.

The Fetzer committee has hopes of pushing through a $20-million television package for 1966, with the idea of interesting a national network in televising a Monday night Game-of-the-Week.

Plans are being made to brief state governors, who have a powerful say under the law as to the disposition of the National Guard within their states.

Questions poured in on the Pentagon from reservists unsure of where they stand. Many of these questions cannot be answered now, on the basis of the skeleton plan outlined by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara last Saturday. Many will have to wait months for clarification.

Among the pending questions are these: What should individual Army Reservists do in preparation for the switch? What will happen to the college ROTC program? Since there still are racially segregated National Guard units in the South, will reservists be placed in such segregated units? What should draft-age youths do about signing up in Reserve programs?

Apart from individual problems, the states are interested in such questions as the disposition of Army Reserve armories. A wide range of such matters remain to be resolved over the coming months.

CHATTER

By "Bill"

The old saying, "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," or however it goes, is as right as rain!

As you all know from reading the papers, there are a lot of robberies around the country. A prominent businessman came in the other day and said he guessed he would have to buy his wife a mink stole. Said it would be too, too embarrassing if their house happened to be broken into and they could not list a mink stole among the missing articles!

Happy day for us! We just happened to have a beautiful group of stoles on hand... and it is our guess that any old robber would grab one the very first thing!

But in the meantime, SHE would have a wonderful time wearing it to church, teas, parties... just any and everywhere. We invite you to see them while we have such a varied collection. Autumn haze, royal pastel, French mink... all simply beautiful. Like everything else at Raley's Style Shoppe, the quality and workmanship are superb; and, since most people are not expert judges of fur, it is good to buy from a reliable source. Skin on skin and let-out skins at prices that will really surprise you... Buy now and pay later, if you like... but see them today!

And, of course, we would suggest a smart, fall suit to wear under or with the mink. A Crest-moor knit, three-piece suit in black or brown. A Briny Marlin in the softest tweed you have ever seen or felt! The casual suit by Frelich... There are so many, we invite you to see them all. And, of course, the place is Raley's Style Shoppe, where your gifts are beautifully wrapped, FREE!

"DEAR ABBY"

THE TRUTH WILL OUT!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: I am 11 years old and I am still confused about Santa Claus. Mom, Dad and my older sisters say there IS a Santa Claus, and the kids at school say there isn't any. Mom said, "Call up Santa and talk to him." So I call him up at Sears' service number and all I get is some stupid recording which says, "This is Santa Claus up in the North Pole, ho ho ho." He doesn't let me get a word in edgewise. How can a great big fat guy get his stomach through a chimney? And how can he sled to Florida when there's no snow there? In Omaha there's a Santa in every store. I just got through telling a short, fat Santa in Brandies what I wanted, and when I walked outside I saw a tall, thin, Santa ringing a bell for the Salvation Army. How about this?

CONFUSED ABOUT SANTA

Dear Confused: Climb upon your father's knee, Sonny Boy, and ask him to level with you. You're old enough to know.

Dear Abby: I am 18 and have been married for 7 months. My husband and I get along very well and I like being married, but here is the problem:

I work for the telephone company and the pay is very good, but with my hours I hardly ever get to see my husband and I stay dissatisfied with myself all the time.

I can't get on a different shift because I don't have any seniority. My mother says that while I still have no children I should work and save all the money I can. I would rather stay home and be a housewife. Living on my husband's earnings would not be easy, but I would like to try. My husband says I CAN Q MY JOB IF I want to. What should I do?

TORN

Dear Törn: Quit your job and devote yourself to being a full time wife. A dissatisfied wife is a greater threat to a marriage than a tight budget.

Dear Abby: Our son, a college sophomore, was driving one night when he was side-swiped by a truck, and a horrible accident resulted. His date (a college freshman) was badly injured. They still don't know how much plastic surgery will be required to restore her face to a presentable appearance. Fortunately, our son escaped with lesser injuries from which he will recover in time, but they are both still hospitalized. Naturally, we are sick over this and are assuming all the bills. Her parents said to us, "Now that your son has disfigured our daughter for life, the least he can do is marry her!" They had been dating, but not enjoyed by a large group.

After the business was dispensed with room count was taken. Miss Estelle Caldwell's first, grade winner. The meeting was adjourned.

Open House Held At The Little House

Local Girl Scouts ushered in the holiday season with Open House Sunday, December 13 at the "Little House" in Fair Park. A silver sunburst medallion centered with red balls graced the green front door. It was fashioned by Mrs. John T. May, leader of Brownie Troop 63. Holly and other greenery were used to decorate the house by Cadette Troop 75.

As the guests arrived, Cadette Scout Troops 75 and 120 welcomed them and were in charge of the book where about 200 registered during the afternoon. The serving table, covered with a green Christmas cloth and centered with green ornaments and red poinsettias, was in charge of Senior Scouts Susan Rogers, Sue King, Gail Cross, Ruth Ann Wylie, Molly Tolleson, and Carolyn Millican, who took turns serving the punch. Juniors and Brownies passed cookies and Christmas napkins and helped with the clean-up.

Marilynn Harris of Junior Troop 117 made a clever reindeer for the mantle and tiny angels were used on either side of it. Members of Brownie Troops 60 and 63 made the pretty Christmas tree ornaments that included pop corn ropes, Christmas angels, and gold medallions centered with poinsettias. The beautifully decorated tree will be presented to the Hope Nursing Home, 1005 South Main, on Thursday, December 17, and Troop 117 will also sing Christmas carols for the residents at that time.

Cadette Troop 75 gathered food in a gold box beneath the tree to be given to underprivileged children. Cadette Scout Candy Harris and Senior Scout Molly Tolleson will present this box of food to the local Kiwanis Club for distribution when they are guests of the club at its luncheon meeting December 15.

Baker HD Club Meets

The Baker Home Demonstration Club held their annual family Christmas dinner party Tuesday, December 8 at the WOW Hall. The piano and white covered serving table was beautifully decorated with red candles, greenery with red berries.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Dale Tonnemaker and the traditional dinner was enjoyed by the 29 present. The program was directed by Mrs. Ardell Clark. Miss Peggy Rowe sang, by Miss Meryl Cox at the piano. Miss Sherrie Cox and Miss Meryl Cox sang "Silver Bells."

Mr. Merlin Cox gave a very inspiring devotion, "What Christmas Means To Me."

Everyone joined in singing Christmas carols. Gifts were distributed from a beautiful silver tree decorated with colorful balls by Jackie Easterling and Kenny Rowe.

Paisley PTA Meets

The Paisley PTA met December 9, at 2:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Lawrence Easterling.

A seasonal program was presented by the children directed by Mrs. Richard Keyton and the Paisley teachers. The auditorium was gaily decorated with a Christmas arrangement for the piano and a Christmas tree for the stage. The program was

Sces More Farm Market Research

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D - Ark., said here Monday there should be more farm marketing research improvement in the next four or five years.

Calling for a concentration of such research, Mills said there has been much improvement in agricultural marketing in recent years, but "we have not begun to hit pay dirt with respect to our marketing resources."

He spoke at the annual conference of the Arkansas Agricultural Extension Service.

Committee of ALC to Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Three committees of the Legislative Council will meet Wednesday to clear up their work before the full council resumes budget hearings Thursday.

The committees are state and local government, education and revenue and taxation.

Reaction to High Court Ruling

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Negro leaders, while jubilant over the Supreme Court's ruling upholding the controversial public accommodations section of the Civil Rights Act, were taking a wait-and-see attitude today over whether full compliance with the ruling would follow.

President Johnson, noting there already has been "encouraging widespread compliance with the act in the five months it has been law," expressed hope the court rulings Monday would result in increased acceptance. Other leaders, Negro and white, called for compliance.

Segregationist restaurant owner Lester Maddox of Atlanta awaited a decision by the court on his own appeal to a lower court order that he admit Negroes. Maddox said he felt a similar ruling would not be made in his case because he does not engage in interstate commerce.

John Lewis, chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee which has been instrumental in many sit-ins throughout the South, hailed the court's ruling on the Civil Rights Act and sit-in demonstrators as a landmark.

"The decision vindicated the thousands of demonstrators who made the civil rights bill not only possible but imperative," Lewis said. "It must be held as the landmark in the struggle for complete social, economic and political equality for all Americans."

Lewis said his organization had no plans for further action at the moment but would wait to see what happens.

There was a distinct possibility that further demonstrations would occur at a Birmingham, Ala., restaurant which was involved in the court rulings. The rulings involved the Heart of Atlanta Motel and Ollie's Barbecue in Birmingham.

Moreton Rolleston, president of the motel corporation, said the decision was "a sad day for individual freedom," and "makes possible a socialistic state and eventual dictatorship." His motel has accepted Negroes since ordered to by a lower court. He had appealed the ruling.

A lower court ruled that Ollie's Barbecue did not come under the law because it does not had 70 per cent or more of their voting age population at the polls, this year only 16 could surpass that figure.

But the Southern states, always on the bottom of vote participation charts, scored dramatic gains. All of the 11 states of the old Confederacy had increases in their total presidential vote and 10 of the 11 showed percentage increases — some of them marked.

Georgia, for instance, was up from 30.2 per cent to 43.2 per cent; Arkansas was up from 40.9 to 49.9; South Carolina jumped from 30.3 to 38; and Virginia climbed from 32.9 to 41.

Over-all, the Southern popular vote rose by a little more than 2 million — from 10.2 million to 12.3 million — in contrast with the national increase of 1.8 million.

Goldwater's total in the 10 Southern states was 5,993,319, an increase of 1.27 million over Richard M. Nixon's total there in 1960. Goldwater ran about 8.5 million votes behind Nixon in the rest of the nation.

Johnson's total was 8,999,122 higher than John F. Kennedy's in 1960.

Johnson's victory margin of almost 16 million and his 61 per cent share of the total vote set new U.S. political records. So, too, did his popular vote total, far surpassing the 35.5 million racked up by Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1956.

Record Vote in Voting Last Year

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A record 70,621,479 Americans voted in last month's presidential election, official totals tabulated by The Associated Press showed today.

The popular-vote totals which showed an increase of almost 1.8 million over the 1960 election were:

President Johnson 43,126,218

Sen. Barry Goldwater 27,174,999

Others 320,363

Although the total set a record, there was a percentage decline in voter participation compared with 1960 — based on the number of Americans who were of voting age on Election Day.

In the 1960 race, 63.1 per cent of the persons the Census Bureau estimated were of voting age cast ballots for president.

This year, with the number of age-eligible voters estimated at 113.9 million by the bureau, the participation rate was down to 62 per cent.

In all, 35 states showed declines in participation over 1960. Where four years ago 29 states

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — A decision on whether insurgent House Republicans will try to unseat Charles A. Halleck of Indiana may be made after a conference here next Wednesday.

No formal action could be taken until the first formal Republican conference of the new session on Jan. 4.

Opponents of Halleck include those who think the House GOP leadership should more actively push alternative programs instead of merely opposing Democratic proposals. They are considering Michigan Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. for the top post.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss., has been notified of the caucus of House Democrats next Jan. 2.

Williams' status as a Democrat is under fire by some of his colleagues because he supported GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

Members of the Democratic study group — generally Northern members of the House — have served notice they will seek to deny Williams a seat as a Democrat, a move which would have the effect of taking away his party status and depriving him of his committee assignments.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government stockpiles declined nearly $125 million in November, according to a report issued Thursday, leaving the total at just under $14 billion.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., issued the report, which showed the amount of stockpile had declined by $124,670,259 to a total of $13,999,323,321.

engage in interstate commerce. The Supreme Court overturned this decision.

The restaurant owner, Ollie McClung, said he was sorry that the Supreme Court "didn't see it our way. It seems to me that the ownership and use of private property is basic to the American way of life."

The court also ruled that states must dismiss sit-in charges now that the Civil Rights Act is law.

Hope One of 3 Teams to Win in Tournament

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Writer

Hope's Senior Girls marched to a 57-40 win over Guernsey last night in the first round of the Hope Holiday Invitational in Jones Field House.

In the first game of the evening, which was actually a second round match, Spring Hill shaded Stephens 34-32 and advanced to the quarterfinals.

A strong Glenwood squad blunted Stephens 57-52 in the evening's other game.

All three games were senior girls.

With a slight edge at the end of the first quarter, the Lady Cats bombed in a stout second period and took a 32-19 halftime command.

With their win, the Ladies earned the rather dubious honor of taking on Class A Ouachita in the first game Thursday night.

Phyllis Martin was high scorer with 27 points. Shirley Smith had 21, and Becky Lewis, Cecilia Archer, and Cindy Rosen had 2 each. Jane Black had 21 for the losers.

Trailing 23-18 at the half, Coach Harvey Vann's Bears stormed back with an air-tight defense to stun Stephens and allow them a solitary point during the quarter. At the end of the third, Spring Hill led 28-24.

Stephens came to within one point during the final minute, but the clock just wouldn't wait, and they wound up on the short end of the 34-32 thriller.

Linda McNeil led the scoring with 15 points, and Kidd had 13. Becky Hodge had 14 for Stephens.

Dulane Pintado sacked thirty-nine points to pace Glenwood in their decision over Stamps. Jody Brown had 23 for the losers, and Jackie Smith 21.

There will be no tournament action tonight, but the Bobcats will host the Prescott Curley Wolves. The Junior Boys will start the action at 7:00.

Tournament play will resume Wednesday night at 5:30 when defending state champion Lewisville will go against Emmet in the girls' bracket.

At 6:30 the first boys' game will be played when Guernsey meets Emmet.

An excellent girls' match is in store at 7:30 when two of the tournament's strongest teams will go against each other, Glenwood and Kirby.

The night's final game will be at 8:30. The Kirby Senior Boys will battle with Spring Hill.

Giardello Decisions
Rubin Carter

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It was like the old matador against the young, dangerous bull.

Middleweight champion Joey Giardello came perilously close to being gored but he called on every trick he learned in 16 years of pro battling to beat strong Rubin (Hurricane) Carter in his first title defense Monday night.

A rousing finish in the last five rounds of the 15-round earned the crafty, 34-year-old champion the unanimous decision over the muscular, 27-year-old second-ranking contender from Paterson, N.J., at Convention Hall.

Giardello was cut over the left eye and shaken by a jolting left hook in the fourth round. Carter had his big chance in that round but he blew it. Giardello absorbed several other solid left hooks to the jaw from his ever-threatening foe but Pat Joey always managed to slip away.

North, South Bowl Admits Negroes

MORILE, Ala. (AP) — All-America tackle Larry Kramar of Nebraska heads a 27-man North squad announced to play for the 16th annual Senior Bowl football game Jan. 9.

The squad—as did the South team announced Sunday—includes for the first time two Negro players. They are 6-4, 240-pound Michigan State tackle Jerry Rush and Utah end Roy Jefferson, a 6-2, 190-pounder.

The South's Negro players are Olympic sprinter Bob Hayes and Bob Felts, Florida A. & M. backs.

Big Ten quarterbacks Rich Badar of Indiana and Tom Myers of Northwestern will direct the North offense.

All but one of the 27 North players were picked in the drafts by National and American Football League teams and three of the squadmen were first-round choices.

They were Rush, picked in the AFL first round by Boston and in the second round by the NFL's Detroit; Indiana fullback Tom Nowatzke, No. 1 by Detroit; and back George Donnell of Illinois, an opening-round choice of San Francisco of the NFL.

The players turn professional in the game. Members of the winning team receive $900 each and each of the losers gets $700.

from the brink of disaster. There were no knockdowns.

"If I only could have made him fall," said Carter. "Just once, if I could have made him fall, that was the difference. I won it clear — at least 9 to 6 — but a fall would have clinched it."

"I had him on the hook but let him get off. He's cagey and takes a helluva punch. Look at the great fighters he's fought and none have put him down for the count."

"He fought my fight and didn't press as I expected him to press," said Giardello. "He didn't fight inside and made it easy for me. That had a lot to do with it."

"This was Giardello's first title defense since he won the crown from Nigeria's Dick Tiger on an upset decision at Atlantic City, N.J., Dec. 7, 1963.

He had only two non-title outings with Rocky Rivero. Now with eight straight victories to his credit, he plans to cash in with a couple of more non-title fights. Then he said he would like to meet the winner of a bout between No. 1 contender Joey Archer of New York and Tiger.

Archer beat both Tiger and sions in New York.

Carter, a pro three years, had scored 13 knockouts in 24 pro fights. A fast puncher with a flashy left hook, he counted on the hook to undo the champion. He came close in the fourth only.

The ring-scarred champion kept on the move constantly against his stalking, straight-moving opponent. With blood trickling from the cut most of the way, Giardello fought the classic fight — sticking with his left jab to the head, hooking to the body and head and making Carter miss.

Joey had the challenger slicing the air with dozens of punches in most rounds with a slip of his head or a slight move backwards or to the side. Carter landed his share of punches but Giardello scored with more.

The officials had Giardello the winner by the following point scores, based on the five points a round: referee Bob Polis, 72-66; judge James Mina, 71-66; and judge Dave Beloff, 70-67.

The Associated Press scorecard had Giardello a narrow winner, 69-68.

In rounds the scores were Pol is 9-3-3, Beloff 8-5-2, and Mina 9-4-2. The AP had it 7-5-3.

A ringside poll showed a 15-5 majority for Giardello.

Carter entered the ring a 6-5 favorite after being a 7-5 underdog at the weigh-in. Giardello weighed 160 pounds — the exact middleweight limit — to Carter's 158½.

Giardello's record is 97-22-7, Carter's 20-5.

Hardin May Be Through at Academy

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The Naval Academy still is deliberating legal and other questions in the five-year contract of Wayne Hardin, who reportedly is through as head football coach at Navy.

Officials announced after a two-hour meeting Monday that further sessions would be necessary. "We fully expect to have a statement on Thursday," Capt. William S. Busik, director of athletics, said.

He said any speculation about Hardin's status until that time would be premature, that the "whole spectrum" of his contract was under review.

Busik confirmed that the board of athletic control, of which he is a member, had been in touch with Hardin's lawyer, B. Nathaniel Richter of Philadelphia. The coach did not attend the meeting, but Busik said he was advised of proceedings and seemed satisfied with them.

The delay only served to heighten speculation that the principal question was whether to buy up all or part of the four years remaining in the contract. Hardin reportedly makes about $18,000 a year.

Hardin's new contract took effect last January after a 9-1 season in which Navy ranked No. 2 nationally and received a Cotton Bowl bid. His team this year finished 3-6-1, including his first loss to Army in six years.

Michigan in Comeback, Downs Wichita

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Whoops! That crazy-bouncing basketball has given Wichita an up-and-down feeling faster than you can say Cazzie Russell.

Russell and the rebounding Michigan Wolverines floored No. 1-ranked Wichita 87-85 Monday night, less than 24 hours after the Wheatshockers had evicted the Big Ten club from the top spot among major college powers.

Wichita's first loss and North Carolina's 84-78 decision over ninth-ranked Vanderbilt promised another shake-up in the national ratings. The Top Ten list underwent wholesale changes last week, as reflected in The Associated Press poll released today and based on results through last Saturday.

Wichita, with four straight victories at that point, drew 23 of 33 first-place ballots and out-pointed once-beaten Michigan 309-279. The Wolverines, surprised by Nebraska 74-73 Saturday night, received five first-place ballots.

The wolves may ask for a recount after Russell's brilliant second-half performance — which included the last-second winning basket — against Wichita. Cazzie dazzled the Shockers after intermission, scoring 23 of his game-high 28 points — six in the final 1½ minutes.

The score was knotted at 85 — 16th tie in the seessaw struggle at Detroit — with four seconds to play when Wichita lost the ball on a bad pass. Russell's running one-hander dropped through the cords at the buzzer, giving the Wolverines their fifth victory.

Bob Lewis hit for 31 points, one more than teammate Billy Cunningham, at Greensboro, N.C., as North Carolina handed Vanderbilt its second straight setback. The Commodores lost to Virginia Tech 69-64 Saturday and tumbled from third to ninth in The AP poll. Vanderbilt is 3-2 on the season. The Tarheels have won five of seven.

Not one of last week's Top Ten teams held its position in this week's poll. St. Louis, opened by Missouri 72-56 Saturday night, slipped from fourth to 10th. San Francisco and Minnesota climbed into the Nos. 3 and 4 berths, respectively, and split four first-place votes.

UCLA; Duke; St. John's, N.Y., and Kentucky all advanced after successful week-ends. The Bruins, No. 5, trimmed Oklahoma State 68-52. The Blue Devils, No. 6, routed South Carolina 111-72. The Redmen, No. 7, nipped Miami, Fla., 79-77, and the Wildcats smashed Syracuse 110-77 to gain the No. 8 spot.

Four teams which received votes in the weekly poll but failed to crack the Top Ten scored impressive home-court victories Monday night. Jon McGlockin's 24 points carried Indiana past DePaul 91-78; Wayne Estes pumped 40 points as Utah State rattled Nevada 101-80; Miami of Ohio whipped Marshall 114-90, setting a school scoring record, and Drake shakkled Idaho State 56-41.

Howe Slumps as Leading Hockey Man

By BILL HALLS

DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe, the slop-shouldered all-time National Hockey League scorer, is in a slump, and the Detroit Red Wings are worried about it.

The last time the 36-year-old right-winger put the puck through the net was Nov. 14. That was against the Montreal Canadiens' goalie, Charlie Hodge. It made Howe the all-time NHL scorer with 627 regular-season and playoff goals, eclipsing Maurice (The Rocket) Richard's record.

Since then, Howe has played 659 minutes and 40 seconds without a goal.

"It's starting to get me," said Howe after the Wings lost 5-0 to the Black Hawks in Chicago Sunday night. "I wish I could get something so I could help the team."

Manager-coach Sid Abel glanced at the statistics sheet.

"Look at that," he said. "Howe had 10 shots on the net. Nobody else was close to him. Bobby Hull and five for the Hawks."

Howe nodded agreement. "Sure, I hit his toe with one, his elbow with another... and his stick with another."

Howe shrugged, and Abel added: "We've got to get Gordie out of this thing and started somehow. We are going to sit down before Wednesday's game in New York and see if we can't figure some line-up shift that might help him get going."

Vietnamese Apparently Tired of War

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two young Vietnamese sat in a coffee shop on Saigon's Le Loi Boulevard this week comparing notes on how they had evaded the horrors of war.

Both are 21 years old. Both come from good families. Both wore the light-fitting tapered slacks that are the rage here now, and both sported ducktail haircuts.

"They almost got me," one laughed, "got as far as the Quang Trung induction center, but I never made it through the physical. A friend had told me how you can rub metal powder into your chest and it shows up in the X-rays. It looks just like tuberculosis."

"I wasn't so lucky," the youth's companion said. "I was sworn in and all, but last month they were grabbing so many people there just wasn't room for all of us at Quang Trung. After a couple days of starvation they sent me home and told me to wait. I'll wait all right—about 50 years. I figure I can hide out in Daat or some place."

At an office in a big military compound in another part of town a 38-year-old captain stared listlessly out of his window at the sun-scorched street below.

"Ah, how much I would give to get out of this," he said. "I suppose I'm lucky I don't have to fight, and in the last year I have been promoted twice, but I'm sick of it all the same. For the enlisted men it's only three years, if they're lucky. But for the officers it's forever. Once they get you as an officer you never get out until the end of the war or until you're too old to work. As for the war my children will be fighting it and their children, too."

The sun also was beating down on a grimy yellow stucco building about 130 miles south of Saigon. The concrete supports under the building left a space of about three feet between the floor beams and the ground and about 40 troops were camped in this space. It afforded protection from the sun and rain it not from the rats.

The building had been taken over as a headquarters for one of the units involved in pacifying the Mekong River delta. It was siesta time and hammocks were strung under the building, in the building, and from trees all around.

In a cubicle in the building, a young Vietnamese artillery officer was dozing on a cot, a cloud of mosquitoes drifting over his head. A U.S. adviser strode in, his face hard with irritation.

"I realize you need your beauty sleep, lieutenant," the American said, "but we have some I'm sorry but I go My Tho this afternoon and those guns need to be moved. Let's go, huh?"

The Vietnamese stirred. "Oh, I'm sorry but I go My Tho this afternoon. Capt. Thanh said OK I go."

"I know many pretty girls in My Tho but we gotta war to fight. Can't you go tomorrow?" the American asked.

The lieutenant smiled and shrugged and the American knew he would have to find someone else to take care of the guns.

War in South Viet Nam is like that. War is also a mob of soldiers with fire in their eyes storming a line of Viet Cong bunkers, fighting and dying with courage that would be a credit to any army.

But it is a long war and the times for courage are rare. The main thing is just to last it out, somehow, without getting killed.

It is hard to measure the morale of the South Vietnamese fighting forces and the fighting spirit of the people who support

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—"CBS Reports," without editorializing, illuminated Wednesday night the problem of segregation in the North by documenting the hunt of an educated, middle-income man.

Morale never seems to be so low that soldiers just stop fighting. But morale never seems to be high enough to satisfy American standards of what is necessary to win.

Since Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh seized power as premier last Jan. 30 a lot of things have been done to boost the welfare of the 615,000 fighting men under his command. The draft was stepped up to get replacements for exhausted line veterans. Last year the draft practically stopped. Last month 12,000 recruits were hauled into induction centers.

Salaries were increased for all ranks of all services. Now a private with two children earns the equivalent of nearly $300 a month and a major general around $259. Promotion and decoration policies were liberalized.

Life was also made a little easier for the quarter million men in the "paramilitary forces"—the regional militiamen who have been carrying the brunt of the war—and the casualties—against the Viet Cong for the past four years.

Vietnamese soldiers are not issued food and they must buy or steal and prepare everything they eat. The money issued for buying food became a little freer this year.

But despite these benefits the war has not been going any better. The armed forces wreck one Viet Cong unit after another but the enemy keeps growing in strength and continues to sap the blood and energy of the troops.

And in a continuous undertone the enemy keeps preaching peace to the soldiers. For example, weeping old women walk into a Saigon hospital to talk to wounded soldiers, telling them how the National Liberation Front—Viet Cong—only seeks peace for the nation and an end of 20 years of bloodshed. Some of the men listen before the old women are arrested.

Such things seep into the Vietnamese army, undermining fighting morale.

It is a hard, frustrating life. Desertions from the regular army average about six per 1,000 men per month. Police currently are looking for about 8,000 deserters but punishment for desertion is only a few months in jail and then reinstatement in the army.

Viet Cong forces of all types, whose numerical strength has been rocketing during the past four years despite heavy battle losses, now number up to 114,000. This gives the government a six-to-one numerical edge, but experts on guerrilla warfare from Malaya and elsewhere maintain the government must have an edge of 10 to 15 regular troops for every guerrilla to start winning.

American officials who accept these figures hold that the Vietnamese armed forces would have to be at least doubled to start holding the line and winning. Prospects of any such increase in armed forces strength are very small. For one thing, much of the nation's draftable youth lives in Viet Cong-controlled areas. For another, the fighting spirit of the nation does not seem high enough to tolerate a mobilization going much beyond what it is already.

There are a thousand theories as to why the war is going badly. But the soldier of the line none of the theories matters much.

"In a war you just try to keep going and survive. I gave up thinking of the future years ago," said one.

I half listened to Jackie, occasionally providing some sort of answer while we had dinner. I wanted to start moving. I motioned for the waiter. He came over.

"Check," I said. He shook his head. "Mr. Ellis said that it's on the house tonight."

I put a $5 bill on the table. I took another $5 bill and put it beside Jackie's plate. "Take a cab home," I said. "Blackie will see that you get one when you're ready."

"Can't you drop me off on your way to work?" she wanted to know.

"Sorry honey," I said. "I'm already late." I reached over and patted her hand. "I'll see you honey." I got up and left the table quickly.

I waved to Blackie and went out the front door. I stepped up to the curb and pretended I was looking for a cab. I didn't have long to wait. A taxi swooped down the street and stopped in front of me. I caught a glimpse of the guy in the back seat, but I didn't let on. I opened the door and climbed in.

Something hard shoved against my ribs. "Relax, baby," he said. "We're going for a little ride." He reached over and pulled my gun from the holster.

It was pretty much as I had expected it to be. I leaned back against the seat and tried to get a good look at him. But it was too dark.

"What's all this about?" I demanded.

"You'll find out, baby. But don't worry. It's all paid for by a friend of yours." He laughed at his own joke.

So I relaxed. The pressure of the automatic against my back was reassuring. I closed my eyes and tried not to think about what was going to happen. Sometimes you can rehearse too much.

"When we get to your precinct, it'll be straightened out."

Negro family for a $30,000 house in an integrated neighborhood. Corbett Rachal, a maker of high-fashion wigs, started house-hunting last summer in the vicinity of the family's old home in Teaneck, N.J. He has not yet found one.

We never saw the brokers and "CBS Reports" concealed the names of unwilling house sellers. But some sounded almost hysterical as we heard them attempt to persuade the soft-spoken Negro couple that they would not like certain neighborhoods or that prices were too high. Even the help of a community fair-housing committee was unable to break through the invisible barriers.

At midprogram, the scene shifted to a section of expensive homes in New Rochelle, N.Y., where 114 white families, 59 Negro families and 2 Oriental families are happily living and where, as one of the white residents carefully pointed out, property values have not declined.

It was a thought-provoking hour, made poignant because the Rachals were temperate and thoughtful people.

Dave Garroway, who quit NBC's "Today Show" after the death of his wife some four years ago, now has decided to drop his two-per-day New York CBS radio programs soon. Garroway said "pressures of other business commitments" contributed to his decision. He has many outside interests, including a half-finished book on an early French physicist, astronomy and classic automobiles. He is also eager to leave New York, he said, for the sake of his young son's health.

I said. He laughed again. "Sure it will, baby."

The taxi finally pulled to the curb on a narrow, dark street. There was a big, sprawling building beside us. It looked like a warehouse.

"Out, baby," he said and nudged me with his gun. I opened the door and stepped out on the sidewalk. He followed, staying behind me.

"Okay, Harry," he said. "Ditch the cab and make the phone call."

"Sure, Jimmy," Harry said. He drove off.

I opened the door and stepped inside. I could feel the gun in my back as the door closed. It was pitch dark.

"Walk straight ahead, baby," Jimmy said. "You don't have to worry about stumbling into anything. I'll tell you when to stop."

I walked across what seemed to be a concrete floor. I must have walked 60 feet before he told me to stop. There was a click and a light came on.

We were in the center of a large, empty warehouse. Just in front of me there was a slightly elevated platform. The light was directly above it. There was a straight-backed chair under the light.

"Go up and take the chair, baby," he said. He pushed the gun a little harder to make sure I got the message.

I stepped up on the platform and walked to the chair. I turned around and sat down.

"This is my precinct, baby," he said. "And the only thing that's going to be straightened out is you."

I was having my first good look at him. He was a big man, but he slouched so that at first glance he seemed smaller. His face was strong except that his lips were loose and there was almost no expression in his eyes. "There's some mistake," I said.

He lifted the gun. "Get undressed. You can just dump your clothes on the floor. It won't make any difference if they get a little dirty."

I took off my coat and dropped it to the floor. I removed my tie and shirt. "Mind if I keep my cigarettes?" I asked.

"Go ahead."

I took the pack of cigarettes and the lighter from my shirt and put them on the edge of the chair. I took off my shoes and then removed my pants.

"You can leave your socks on," he said. "But take off the shorts."

As I took off my shorts, I was glad I had taped the gun to my back. As long as were facing each other, he wouldn't be able to see it.

He watched as I sat down and then he giggled. "What's the matter, baby? The chair cold?"

"A little," I took a cigarette and lit it. "Do you mind telling me what this is all about?"

"Your friend'll be here in a couple of minutes and he'll tell you. But I have to say one thing for you, baby. You're a cool one."

Life in Arkansas

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Writer

Deputy Sheriff Maurice Heston knows the value of friendship—once you get a foot in the door.

Heston was driving along a county road south of Oil Trough last week to the Thida and Union Hill areas to serve some legal papers when he came to a bridge spanning Deparce Creek, a rain-swollen stream.

The bridge was partly underwater, but Heston could see the sides of it, so he started across. The bridge collapsed just before his car made it across and his auto slid into the icy water.

He managed to open the door and struggle from chest-deep water to the bank. Half frozen, he started walking along the road for help. Heston figured his troubles were over when he spied a light in house. But they were just beginning.

When he knocked on the door, an elderly woman appeared. But the appearance of a soaking wet, 6-foot-3, 240-lb. man must have made her skeptical. She wouldn't let him in.

He finally managed to convince her he was a deputy sheriff.

"My arms were so cold and stiff that I had a hard time getting my billfold out of my back pocket," he said. "I pressed the badge to the window, and the woman became a believer. She opened the door, thank heavens."

After getting dried out and sipping hot coffee, Heston started worrying about a way home. His host called a neighbor but as he drove into the yard, his car stuck.

She called another neighbor who chugged up in an old truck—and also promptly got stuck. Meanwhile, in the house, Heston was "stuck" in his own fashion. He couldn't get his wet boots back on.

Finally, the men gathered in the yard got the car back on the road.

Heston gladly took two sacks, tied them on his feet, and rode down Ramsey Mountain— anxiously looking for the lights of Batesville again.

At a Texarkana service station, when the radio desiccated by loud enough, you don't hit it.

When the volume drops suddenly, the only way to regain it is to insert a dime in the cigarette machine it sits on and press the coin return. Presto, volume again.

A Russellville appliance company official figures his store must have fed everybody in Pope and Yell counties during a kitchen range promotion.

He said guests put away sandwiches from 225 pounds of beef roasted during the promotion.

Paul Buchanan of Batesville received an odd souvenir the other day from wood craftsman Warren Smith, who lives near the old Mount Olive community in Ozark County—a bank of bear fur.

Smith said the bruin, which weighed more than 300 pounds, was killed by a Missouri Pacific freight train on the 200-foot long Gann Hollow trestle in the Mount Olive area.

The train engineer said he thought at first sight that the bear, standing upright, was a man, and he hit the brakes instantly.

Smith said the crewmen took

FHA Loans Fight Drought Damage Here

Loan programs of the Farm help counter the damage caused by the drought here in Hempstead County, Jeff High, local supervisor of the agency said this week.

Mr. High reported that this agency provides emergency loans to help individual farmers maintain normal operations even though their fields, crops, and livestock have been damaged by the drought. Emergency loans enable farmers to avoid selling off foundation livestock, machinery, and other capital assets needed to operate their farms. Such loans are now available to eligible farmers in Hempstead County.

In addition, the local FHA County Supervisor emphasized that other loan programs available to farmers and others in Hempstead County can be of direct importance in lessening or even eliminating future drought hazards.

"FHA loans available to individual farmers, associations, and small towns and villages finance such projects as farm ponds and other water storage construction, community water and irrigation systems, and dams and reservoir construction in small watersheds," Mr. High said.

"Farmers Home Administration loan programs are one of the most effective weapons available to many farmers and others living in rural areas to overcome the immediate effects of the drought. In addition, they also help small towns, communities and farmers assure future water supplies and thus avoid serious water shortages over the long run."

Mr. High said that emergency loans may be used by farmers, to buy feed, seed, fertilizer, replacement equipment and livestock, and for other items needed to maintain normal farming operations.

The interest rate on emergency loans is 3 percent. FHA schedules repayment in accordance with the borrower's ability to pay from normal operations.

Mr. High reported that several FHA loan programs can be effective in financing long-range measures that combat the impact of drought in an area.

Farmers Home Administration also extends credit to individual farmers specifically for water resource development. This includes installation of on-the hindquarters and other choice cuts of beef meat home for supper.

World News

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant left the way open today for nations outside the United Nations to be admitted to a proposed U.N. agency for industrial development.

East Germany, North Korea, North Viet Nam and even Communist China might benefit.

The agency has been proposed to promote the industrialization of underdeveloped countries by providing information, planning, advice, research, training and technical assistance.

Members of the U.N. or of U.N. agencies could become members of the new agency but Thant also proposed:

"Other states may become members of the agency after their membership has been approved by the general conference of the council and after they have become parties to these (governing) statutes."

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Ceylon's general election has been advanced from March 24 to March 22 because astrologers advised Prime Minister Sirimavo Bandaranaike the earlier date is more auspicious, newspapers reported today.

farm water systems for irrigation, household use, and livestock; drainage of farmland; and building of farm water storage structures such as ponds.

Loans of up to $1,000,000 are made by Farmers Home Administration to small towns and villages and associations of farmers and other rural residents to install community water systems for home and farm use and to groups of farmers to develop water systems for farm irrigation. The interest rate on these loans varies but may not exceed 5 percent. Loans may be repaid over periods of 40 years. These loans also can be used by groups of farmers and other rural residents to affect shifts in the use of land; for example, improvement of grazing areas, reforestation, redevelopment of wetlands and for wildlife and recreation. These and other similar uses can contribute to a community's water management programs.

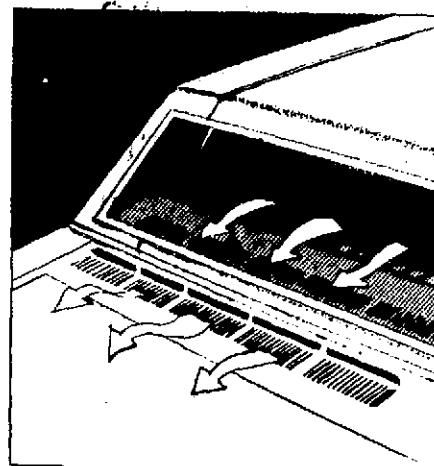

FHA loans also help communities and associations finance local costs of small watershed projects, for such projects as stream control, upstream conservation on farm land, and water storage for farm and municipal use.

Inquiries regarding the assistance available through the FHA can be made at Mr. High's office at 101 Courthouse, Hope, Arkansas.

Ponders Over Truly Best U.S. Golfers

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Who are really the "Big Two" of American golf?

Is it Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, the leading money winners and recent victors in the international Canada Cup competition in Hawaii?

Or is it any combination of Ken Venturi, Tony Lema and Bobby Nichols, winners of the three big medal-play championships?

Venturi, the reigning U.S. Open champion, would like an answer. If necessary he would like it in a head-to-head, winner-take-all match on five of the best golf courses in the country. "I always have thought — long before this year — that winning the U.S. Open was a major achievement in golf and that the man who grabs it should represent his country in an event like the Canada Cup," the Professional Golfers Association's Golfer of the Year said today.

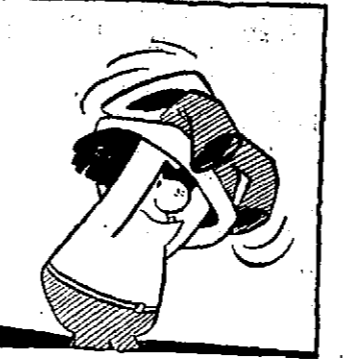

"Frankly, I was offended because I wasn't chosen on the team this year," Bobby Nichols should have been equally upset. "Between us, we won four of the six major tournaments in the matter of prestige. I won the Open and the American Classic. Bobby won the PGA and the Carlins World. Lema won the British Open and Palmer the Masters.

"Nicklaus and Palmer were picked to represent the United States in the Canada Cup. Rightfully, the two positions should have gone to the Open and PGA champions. "I thought this five years ago. I'll think it next year when I may not win anything."

Venturi said in order to accent his point he would like to team with Lema in a challenge match against Nicklaus and Palmer, the best three-of-five best-ball matches on five out-standing courses.

"Let us put up $10,000 each and they put up the same, let television sweeten the pot for perhaps a $100,000 purse and see what happens," Venturi said. "I'm sure Lema would be all for it."
